Phaser and Crew Battle Drill Descriptions

1. The Phaser is a large, complex wooden structure that is used for training purposes. It is made of light-colored wood and features various mechanical components, including a large circular opening and a smaller rectangular opening. The structure is mounted on a wooden frame and is designed to be used in a variety of ways, including as a target, a training aid, and a simulation of a real-world scenario.

2. The Crew Battle Drill is a training exercise that is designed to simulate a real-world scenario. It involves a group of people working together to complete a series of tasks, including identifying and neutralizing threats, and coordinating with other crew members. The drill is designed to be challenging and to test the crew's ability to work together under pressure.

3. The Phaser and Crew Battle Drill are both important components of a crew's training. They are designed to help crew members develop the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in a real-world scenario. By practicing these drills, crew members can become more confident and more effective in their work.

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Jury:

1. Do not mingle with, nor talk to, the lawyers, the parties, or any other person who might be connected with or interested in this case, except for the casual greetings. They have to follow these same instructions and they will understand it when you do.

2. Do not accept from, nor give to, any of those persons any favors however slight, such as rides, food or refreshments.

3. Do not discuss anything about this case, or even mention it to anyone whomsoever, including your wife or husband, nor permit anyone to mention it in your hearing until you are discharged as jurors or excused from this case. If anyone attempts to discuss the case with you, report it to me at once.

4. Do not even discuss this case among yourselves until after you have heard all the evidence, the Court's Charge, the attorneys' arguments and until I have sent you to the jury room to consider your verdict.

5. Do not make any investigation about the facts of this case. Occasionally we have a juror who privately seeks out information about a case on trial. This is improper. All evidence must be presented in open court so that each side may question the witnesses and make proper objections.

If you know of, or learn anything about, this case except from the evidence admitted during the course of this trial, you should tell me about it at once.

6. Do not make personal inspections, observations, investigations, or experiments nor personally view premises, things or articles not produced in open court. Do not let anyone else do any of these things for you.

7. Do not tell other jurors your own personal experiences nor those of other persons, nor relate any special information. A juror may have special knowledge of matters such as a business, technical or professional matter or he may have expert knowledge or opinions, or he may know what happened in this or some other lawsuit. To tell the other jurors any of this information is a violation of these instructions.

8. Do not seek information contained in law books, dictionaries, public or private records or elsewhere which is not admitted in evidence. Do not seek information on the Internet during trial.

At the conclusion of all the evidence, I will submit to you a written charge. Since you will need to consider all the evidence admitted by me, it is important that you pay close attention to the evidence as it is presented.

Texas law permits proof of any violation of the rules of proper jury conduct. By this I mean that jurors and others may be called upon to testify in open court about acts of jury misconduct. I instruct you, therefore, to follow carefully all the instructions which I have given you, as well as others which you later receive while this case is on trial.
